Here's what makes RadReviewEasy a radiography student's best weapon in preparing for the ARRT exam:

- Material that reflects the latest ARRT content specifications
- Coverage of the latest technologies including computed and digital imaging
- Content taken directly from Dorothy Saia's time-tested *LANGE Q&A: Radiography Examination, 8e
- Robust Performance Profile allows users to track their results performance by topic and test scores over time and also allows users to compare their scores to others using RadReviewEasy, including test-takers at the users' specific institutions.
- Customization features that allow users to:
 - Choose between Practice, Exam, or ARRT Simulation modes
 - Take tests composed of questions that the user is seeing for the first time
 - Create tests composed of previously incorrectly-answered questions so users can focus on weak areas
 - Choose the number of questions and subject areas of a test or create a set of randomly selected questions
 - Take timed tests or practice at their own pace
- Instructor reporting tool that allows faculty to track individual student progress and generate two types of reports:
 - Performance by exam (both complete and incomplete)
 - Performance by specialties/subspecialties

- More than 1500 questions and answers that simulate the ARRT format, with full explanations
- 500+ online-only questions
- Questions that are sorted by exam areas:
 - Patient Care Education
 - Radiation Procedures
 - Radiation Protection
 - Image Production and Evaluation
 - Equipment Operation and Quality Control
